

Chapter 31: the policeman's point of view

Christopher's father entered the police station. He could hear Christopher shouting at a policeman so he needed to hurry

"Why is Christopher here, what has he done?! Ed asked nervously.

"Well... Christopher tried to hit me"

"But why would he do that to a policeman?"

"Don't ask me, ask him!"

"We will talk about what happened later at home"

"Sir, I gave Christopher a warning"

"I think he deserves it for what he has done. I'm sorry about the trouble."

The policeman redirected these 2 individuals to the door and finally got away from them because he was thinking "What's wrong with these two weirdos??????"

A Policewoman entered the room where were the 2 other officers were busy with Christopher and his dad.

She had been trying to hear what they were saying while being in another room questioning a prisoner with a delicate case. She wanted to understand so she asked them what they were up to.

"Don't worry Ana, just a normal case like any other it's just that the way they held their hands seemed very strange to me. Christopher hit me but he didn't mean to, nothing really serious."

"Are you guys sure? if we you need any help I'm in the other room"

The two policemen kept wondering. They were hesitating to follow them to their house to see where they lived and what they did in their spare time.

Christopher and Ed went back home but Ed didn't feel well ...
